Need help with report customization?

END CUSTOMERS

Reports are often left until the very end of the project, and sometimes you even end up in production with a basic set of purely designed reports. Of course, you want to have professional looking invoices and orders but your MS partner is telling you that this would cost you far too much.

Take reports into your own hands now by securing your own Docentric AX, a tool that end users can use, and benefit from professional & affordable assistance by Infinite Solutions.

Want to outsource report development?

MS PARTNERS

The project rollout is almost there, and you are running out of time and resources. Reports are the easiest part to outsource and by doing so you can focus on more crucial things to successfully deliver all functionalities promised to your client on time. After the rollout, you will be able to move on with your new projects while still having your client completely satisfied with their reports.

Contact Docentric and Infinite Solutions - we can help.

We are always happy to get your feedback so that we can constantly learn, improve and deliver a better solution to you.
